

Jobs

Real Estate

Cars

Classifieds

Helen Keller visits the Central School

Photos

Zoom

Courtesy photo

Sheryl Faye as Helen Keller.

By Staff reports
Stoneham Sun

Posted Jun 30, 2013 @ 02:21 PM

Suggested Stories

Former Waltham man allegedly assaulted woman on...

Party at Newton's JCC celebrates five years of PJ...

Fox News Sued for Accidentally Airing Man's...

From the Web

This School's Principal Went Way Too Far Nick Mom

Is Technology the Future of Education? The New York Times

8 College Degrees That Aren't Worth The Money Salary.com

Sponsored content What's this?

Stoneham — On June 7, the Central School welcomed Historical Perspectives “Helen Keller - Champion of the Disabled” to the school.

As a CD and slideshow played, the actress, Sheryl Faye, acted out the life of Helen Keller.

In the moving portrayal, the children relived Keller’s life through her graduation from college and the writing of her 12 books. She showed students how she learned to speak and read in Braille, and a Braille book was available for them to see and touch following the performance.

Keller’s story helps children understand and accept the different ways people do the same things, and inspire them to be the best they can be with the talents they possess.

The Central School would like to thank the Stoneham Business and Community Educational Foundation and Meld, Inc. for their generous grant making this program possible.

